A salt metathesis reaction sometimes called a double replacement reaction, double displacement reaction or double decomposition reaction, is a chemical process involving the exchange of bonds between two reacting chemical species, which results in the creation of products with similar or identical bonding affiliations. This reaction is represented by the general scheme:

In chemistry, an ester is a chemical compound derived from an acid (organic or inorganic) in which at least one  $\text{-OH}$  (hydroxyl) group is replaced by an  $\text{-O-alkyl}$  group. Usually, esters are derived from a carboxylic acid and an alcohol. Glycerides, which are fatty acid esters of glycerol, are important esters in biology, being one of the main classes of lipids, and making up the bulk of ...

Nitrile reactions . Nitriles are electronically similar to acids, esters & amides due to the three bonds from the central carbon to an electronegative atom. The . cyano. carbon is electrophilic. Prep. of . simple nitriles is best accomplished by  $\text{S}_{\text{N}}2$  reaction of RX with CN. CH

In the medium term: Effects of the reaction medium can be used to alter the reactivity and selectivity in synthetically useful procedures for the functionalization of aliphatic  $\text{C-H}$  bonds. This Review discusses the mechanistic features in terms of hydrogen bonding and acid-base interactions and shows that these effects can promote aliphatic  $\text{C-H}$  bond (de)activation toward hydrogen atom ...

A couple weeks back, I wrote about the top 8 most common reactions you get when people hear you don't eat grains, and I offered up some concise responses to those reactions. It was well received, so I thought I'd do the same thing for your high-fat diet. If you thought having to explain ...
